

Film House Sets Another New Record with 27 Telly Awards

(NASHVILLE) July 8, 2008 – Film House, the largest film production company in Tennessee, has won a record 27 Telly Awards in the 29th Annual Telly Awards. According to Film House President Ron Routson, Film House has now won 142 Telly Awards in the last eight years.

“These awards are a tribute to the incredibly creative people that work at Film House,” Routson said. “In addition to producing all these award-winning spots, Film House also did the creative.”

The awards presented to Film House this year recognized a series of public service announcements produced for the American Forces Radio and Television Service (AFRTS), which broadcasts to U.S. service men and women and their families across the globe. Everything required to produce these spots – from idea conception to final production – is executed at Film House, Routson said.

With more than 13,500 entries from all 50 states and numerous countries, the Telly Awards is the premier award honoring outstanding local, regional, and cable TV commercials and programs, as well as the finest video and film productions. Winners represent the best work of the most respected advertising agencies and production companies in the world.

About Film House

Film House (www.filmhouse.com) is Tennessee's largest production company producing hundreds of TV commercials and long form projects annually. Transcendent, a wholly-owned subsidiary, produces independent features such as "No Regrets" starring Janine Turner and Kate Jackson, and "Two Weeks" starring two time Academy Award winner Sally Field. Transcendent's current project is "Jubilee," based on the remarkable true story of Ella Sheppard and the original Fisk Jubilee Singers, who introduced the Negro Spirituals to the world in 1871.
